Dear South Philadelphia High School Students and Families,

The STEP team would like you to know that we are still available to support our South Philadelphia students and families during the school closure. STEP provides mental health support and connection to community resources for the SPHS community. You can send an email to the STEP team requesting non-urgent individual support or additional resources and we will get back to you within 48-72 hours, Monday-Friday. If you would like to schedule a phone call with one of us, please send us an email with your contact information and brief description of your need and we will contact you to schedule a phone call.

Clinical Coordinator, Julia Brown: jabrown@philasd.org
School Behavioral Consultant, Joe Gaines: jgaines@philasd.org
Case Manager, Karon Hicks: khicks@philasd.org
Family Peer, Cheryl Dials: cdials@philasd.org

In the meantime, we recognize that life continues for all of us and that situations such as this can have a way of creating more stress and complications. The information below includes a variety of resources available to you and your family. Please contact us if you are looking for a resource that is not included and we will do our best to find it.

We understand that information is subject to change. Please also look for the most updated information on philasd.org/coronavirus/ and phila.gov/COVID-19. You can receive text alerts from the City of Philadelphia regarding the COVID-19 coronavirus by texting COVIDPHL to 888777.

Thank you and stay safe!

United Way Assistance

2–1–1 SEPA is part of the national 2–1–1 Call Centers initiative that seeks to provide an easy-to-remember telephone number, chat, text, and a web resource for funding health and human services— for everyday needs and in crisis situations.

2–1–1 SEPA is brought to you by United Way of Greater Philadelphia and Southern New Jersey in collaboration with the United Way of Southwestern Pennsylvania and the United Ways of Bucks County, Chester County, and Southern Chester County. These United Ways, together with local county government and provider agencies, work to ensure important local program information is accessible through our helpline when it is most needed.

Every day, highly trained 2–1–1 call specialists provide referrals to:

- Basic Human Needs Resources: food banks, shelters, rent and utility payment assistance
- Physical and Mental Health Resources: crisis intervention services, support groups, counseling
- Employment Support: financial assistance, job training, education programs
- Support for Older Adults and Persons with Disabilities: home-delivered meals, transportation, health care
- Youth and Child Care Programs: after school programs, summer camps, mentoring, protection services
- Regional Disaster Preparation

With one phone number, callers gain free, confidential access to thousands of programs and services that can help improve the quality of their lives. Help is available 24 hours a day, seven days a week by calling 2–1–1 (or 1-866-964-7922). TTY and language services are available in more than 170 languages and dialects.

For more information about us or our partners or 2–1–1 SEPA, please email us directly at info@211sepa.org.

EDUCATIONAL APPS

Duolingo
Duolingo is a free communications app that teaches you how to learn the language of your choice. Featuring language lessons for Spanish, French, German, Italian, Portuguese, Dutch, Japanese, Arabic, Czech, Welsh, Danish, Greek, and more, Duolingo offers immediate grading on language challenges and rewards like virtual coins and an increase in your personalized fluency score.

Zoom
Zoom is a virtual conferencing app and platform that many offices are transitioning to during these work-from-home days. But Zoom can help students, too. In fact, Zoom CEO Erin Yuan is now offering students and teachers unlimited meeting minutes so they can fully transition to digital lesson plans. Both students and teachers can fill out an online form with their school email address. Zoom will verify, then set up accounts associated with that school’s domain for unlimited minutes.

RELAXATION APPS

(If you’re experiencing greater than normal stress or anxiety, please contact a physician).

Stop Breathe and Think (free on iOS and Android with subscription content). This was one of the first and continues to be one of the most popular mindfulness and meditation apps available. It’s available on iTunes and Google Play. The app works in several ways that could benefit people looking for some stress relief, whether it’s COVID-19 related or not. It features a daily check-in to get a gauge on your stress level and how you’re feeling physically. Or you can go straight to selecting a variety of exercises whether its ambient music or guided.

Stop, Breathe and Think Kids (free on iOS with subscription content). This app is much like Stop, Breathe and Think except it’s focused on children, with less time juggling the interface and the daily check-in is less complicated. There’s little instruction involved and simplicity is a plus. The app is more tailored to current emotional states, according to the website psyberguide.org website than other apps and it’s easy to operate by kids. The app has a subscription component for $11.99 a month, but it has an abundance of free exercises. There’s not much in the way of explanation, it gets down to business with the exercises.

Calm App (free or 7-day trial on iOS and Android with subscription content). The Calm App and the Stop, Breathe and Think app are the two most used apps for dealing with anxiety or stress. It has far fewer free options than the Stop, Breathe and Think app, but it also has additional options if you pay the subscription. There are guided mindfulness and meditation exercises as well as ‘sleep stories’ from celebrities like LeBron James, Eva Green and Matthew McConaughey it also has a more focused approach on dealing with anxiety in the moment. Both apps use many of the same meditation and mindfulness techniques. The app also works with the Apple Watch and is more visually appealing than Stop, Breathe and Think.

Headspace (free with subscriptions available iOS and Android): Headspace has free specific sessions for moments of panic, anxiety and stress. There are also quick 2-3 minute meditation sessions and special animations that teach skills and answer questions about mindfulness.

Breathe2Relax (Free for iOS and Android): To quote MakeUseOf.com, “Breathing from our diaphragm has shown to reduce anxiety and stress while helping you stay calm.” And there’s an app for that – Breathe2Relax – which focuses on breathing rather than meditation or mindfulness training. The app guides users through breathing exercises and it offers support for the Apple Watch Health app.
Colorfly (free for iOS and Android with subscriptions and in-app purchases). Some adults have taken in the recent trend of grown-up coloring books to relax. Now those are available on Colorfly and other apps. Colorfly features 1,000 different pictures to color, is capable of use offline and you can share your coloring expertise on social media through the app.

Smiling Mind (free on iOS and Android): Smiling Mind is free – no subscriptions, no in-app purchases – and is built specifically for children and adults seeking to deal with daily stress. The app is based on mindfulness courses that train people to deal with stress in the classroom or workplace.

Solitaire (free on iOS, Android and Windows) – Solitaire, the ubiquitous game app that’s accompanied PC computers for three decades, is considered a stress-buster by man. If you aren’t into mindfulness, ambient noises or meditation, Solitaire is a go-to for people wanting a few minutes away from whatever it is that has them stressed.

Some Cost

Ambi Pro ($1.99 for iOS). Ambi Pro specializes in ambient music, using algorithms to change tracks instead of recordings that are looped. The app also blends tracks together so one doesn’t end abruptly. For those who relax with music or the sound of nature, this is considered a top app.

Buddhify ($4.99 on iOS and $2.99 on Android): Buddhify gets past the barriers of trying to figure out what’s free and what’s paid by requiring payment upfront. But with it comes 80 guided meditations in mindfulness training that can help you deal with occurring or re-occurring stress.

Insight Timer (Free on iOS and Android with subscriptions available). Medication app which includes thousands of guided meditations, music tracks, and ambient sounds to calm the mind, focus, sleep better, and relax. Topics include: Sleep deeply, dealing with anxiety and reducing stress, getting through recovery and addictions, self-love and compassion, focus and concentration, leadership, better relationships, and more.

ELEMENTARY AGED APPS

Math Games
With more than 21 math-related, interactive games, Math Games makes the impossible possible—AKA makes math fun! Kids also have the option to practice their math by grade: from Pre-K up to eighth grade. Alternatively, students can also practice by skill—from addition and estimation to mixed equations and money.

GoNoodle
GoNoodle offers movement and mindfulness videos that are the perfect substitute for your child’s regularly scheduled school gym class. The app aims to provide children with physical, academic, and social-emotional tools and overall wellness. GoNoodle has videos for children of all abilities.

Bamboo
In this day and age, Bamboo is one of the most tech-savy educational tools there is. After all, it is compatible with Alexa. If you have an Amazon Alexa in your home, all you have to do is say, “Alexa, enable BambooLearning.” Bamboo offers book services that help kids practice active listening and listening comprehension, Luminaries, an engaging social studies trivia game, math, which helps children practice mental math and offers number problems and thousands of word problems, music, which introduces kids to basic music theory and music games like “Recognize the Instrument,” as well as Highlights Storybooks, co-developed with Highlights magazine to offer stories and exercises that teach kids from levels kindergarten to third grade about active listening and improving listening comprehension.

Funbrain Jr
If you’re looking for interactive math games, reading puzzles, and printable worksheets and games you can do at home together, Funbrain Jr is an excellent, educational resource. Kids also have incentive to learn with Funbrain Jr, as the more games they complete, the more digital stickers they earn. Funbrain also has a Stories section where kids and parents can access digital versions of picture books.

New American History
For grades 4 and up, New American History is a completely customizable way to homeschool your student in social studies. Once you log on, you can choose an individual subtopic of history, the reading level, grade level, learning strategy, and more.
